

The Last Word

“Linkage with a primary health program / a wellness centre and its frontline workers / community health workers - whether government or non governmental / community institution anchored - ensures that there is more comfort among community members with regard to self testing. This becomes a critical success factor for self testing to be successful in communities.”

Neha Parikh

Portfolio Manager - Research

Swasti, The Health Catalyst

